

Junior IT Security Consultant

Lavoro

CORSI DI LAUREA:

- Informatica

DESTINATARI: laureandi e neolaureati magistrali

A Junior Consultant is an IT enthusiast who has recently graduated, or is in the process of graduating, and desires to build his/her career in complex technological fields, both at national and international level. Junior Consultants are team members from day-one, as they participate with a positive and analytical approach to the achievement of project goals, developing experience and flexibility within different IT domains. In doing so, they find constant and spontaneous support in colleagues who share their same approach to IT, innovation, quality and results.

The consulting activities are primarily performed at our client's, who are amongst the major international companies and are often supported by the use of third-party solutions, as Moviri believes and enforces the value of strategic technological partnerships. Junior Security Consultants will help customers implementing technologies within the Security Domain Security, in line with the best practices such as the guidelines provided by ISO 2700x.

Degree: Bachelor's or Master's Degree in Security Computer Science.

Experience: No previous professional experience is required.

Technical Skills:

- > Basic knowledge about IT Architectures (networks, operating systems, middleware, databases);
- > Being involved in security specific workshops i.e. ethical hacking and capture the flag;
- > DB Modeling concepts, Programming Languages and modern development patterns

Competencies:

- > Excellent problem-solving and communication skills;
- > Customer orientation;
- > Goal oriented;
- > Team working;
- > Strive for continuous improvement.

Languages: English, written and spoken.

Travel: Availability to travel.

Travelling is an important requisite. The provision of consulting services throughout national and international environments enhances at a higher speed the development of professional experiences necessary for personal development.